BC Renal Strategic Action Plan 2023 - 2028

Our vision

People affected by kidney disease in BC have access to a network of the highest quality, person-centred care, enabling them to live their lives to the fullest.

Building capacity looks like:

- Capital planning to meet the needs of hemodialysis patients.
- Redesigning our models of care.
- Putting in place strong Emergency Management procedures.

Offering earlier intervention and safer care looks like:

- Improving patient information and education materials.
 - Improving home hemodialysis referral processes.
 - Closing the health gap between Indigenous and non-Indigenous people with or at risk of kidney disease.

Leveraging technology and innovation looks like:

- Rebuilding and expanding PROMIS to improve data available to support clinical decision making.
- Ensure patients have access to the most appropriate new medications and treatments.

BC Renal Strategic Priorities 2023-2028

Partnet

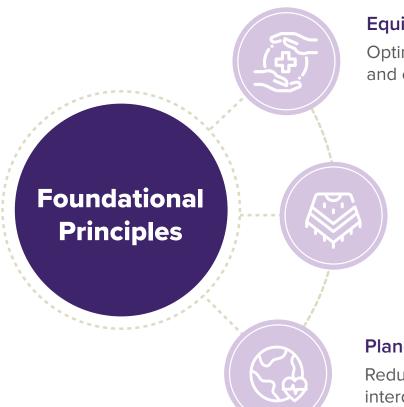

Partnering for improvement looks like:

- Formalizing service agreements with regional health authorities and the Yukon.
- Developing partnerships for the BC Renal Fellowship program.

BC Renal Strategic Action Plan 2023 - 2028

Equitable & Optimal People-Centred Care

Optimize kidney care for all by engaging both patient and community voices impacted by kidney disease.

Indigenous Wellness

Decolonize kidney care for Indigenous peoples and communities, recognizing wellness of the whole person and community as guided by Indigenous worldviews, wisdom and knowledge in the spirit of reconciliation and healing.

Planetary Health

Reduce carbon footprint while acknowledging the interdependency of human health and the well-being of ecosystems.

About the BC Renal Strategic Action Plan

BC Renal's 2023-2028 strategic action plan was developed in consultation with key partners, including patients and families. This consultation surfaced the need to focus BC Renal's work on the four strategic priorities shown on page 1. The plan is supported by three foundational principles: planetary health, equitable & optimal patient-centered care and Indigenous wellness. These principles are embedded throughout the work we're undertaking to advance our strategic priorities.
